DETAILED ACTION

Page 2

1. This communication is in response to amendment filed 10/15/2004.

Response to Amendment

2. Claims 1-25,29-31,33-41,59-76,80-82 and 84-89 are pending and have been allowed.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-25,29-31,33-41,59-76,80-82 and 84-89 are allowed.

Drawings

4. This application contains formal drawings. Informal drawings must be submitted in response to this action.

Reasons for Allowance

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of the aforementioned claims:

The claimed inventions pertain to distributing and redeeming electronic promotions to a plurality of consumers through a communication network.

Art Unit: 3624

The following prior art references have been deemed most relevant to the allowed claim(s):

Deaton et al.(US 5,687,322) teaches a method for distributing and redeeming electronic promotions (marketing) using a financial instrument account number as a check, credit card, debit card, or the like, as the consumer's identification number. Deaton, however, collects and accumulates the consumer's (customer's) information over and above the information necessary for credit verification. (Deaton, col. 6 lines 57-60). Deaton explicitly recites use of a customer's name in association with a promotional marketing. (Deaton, col. 65, lines 9-18)

Nichtberger et al. (US 4,882,675) teaches a method for distributing and redeeming electronic promotions to a plurality of consumers through a communication network. Nichtberger maintains account for each consumer such that an UPC code identifies each consumer account and the consumer can access the account via the communication network using the UPC code whereby the consumer is presented with promotional choices available to him or her.

Day et al. (US 5,857,175) teaches a paperless coupon system which tracks consumer purchasing behavior. The system presents special offers (promotions) to customers. The special offers include customized targeted offers for specific customers. The invention allows manufacturers to select which consumers obtain discounts and how big of a discount.

Claims 1-25,29-31,33-41,59-76,80-82 and 84-89

The prior art references discussed above are deemed the Closest Prior art of record. These prior art references fails to teach or suggest a method for distributing and redeeming electronic promotions to a plurality of consumers through a communication network which comprises the following novel features.

maintaining a consumer account for each consumer which account has a limited direct identification of the consumer, the consumer account identification excludes the consumer by name and associating each consumer account only the following parameters:

a unique key, at least one financial account institution account number, and a purchasing history for the consumer.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
